Blue and Gray Is Unable To Approach Goal of Rival

Goal and Touchdown Come in Second Half. University's Stand Near Goal Line Most Creditable Work of Losing Eleven.

Georgetown's veteran eleven was stunned by the blow of an unexpected defeat at National Park yesterday when Holy Cross won the annual meeting by 10 to 0.

It marked the second setback for the university machine on successive Saturdays. A week before the Marines brought a surprisingly strong outfit up from Quantico and caught Georgetown before it had completely recovered from its bitter contest with Fordham at New York. Yesterday the Blue and Gray took the field realizing it would have to fight to the utmost, but confident of its latent powers to repeat the victory that was scored over Holy Cross a year ago at Worces was a defeat that narrowly escaped being converted into a rout. In the first quarter Holy Cross was slightly stronger, in the second pethe balance was heavier on the of the Massachusetts team. After the long intermission a goal from the field was obtained, but in the final division of the game, not only was a touchdown counted, but another was missed by less than a yard and time was up when Holy Cross had gotten the ball so near the goal that further additions to its total seemed imminent.

While less than one-third as large as the throng that packed the park the previous day for the Penn State-Navy engagement, the crowd yesterday was large, the overnow in the south stand indicating that every student at Georgetown occupied a place in the cheering section. The undergraduates came to the grounds expecting to win. and they seemed dazed as their team failed utterly to make a real impression on their opponents, and was, in fact, really never in a position where it was actually threatening to the score.

Stand Near Goal.

The outstanding feat among the things Georgetown did well was a heroic stand one yard from the goal in the last period. Holy Cross bad slashed its way to a stride of the line, but when the real test came Georgetown was adamant and took the ball after declining to retreat an inch against three savage

Starts Real Attack.

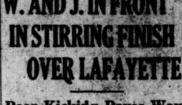

In the second half the Worcester outfit threw itself more heavily on the attack, and before half of the third quarter had been covered had gotten a goal from the 28-yard line

Georgetown went to desperation plays in the last session, shooting forward passes at random from deep in its own terrain and after they had falled and Holy Cross had been stopped almost on top of the goal line Simendinger grabbed one and ran more than half the length of the field for a touchdown, Georgetown went right back to the field for a foundament of the fiel the field for a touchdown. George-town went right back to its aerial tactics, and Broussard injected himself in the path of one and went almost the same distance to the 10-yard line. Before there could be further scores time expired.

First Syracuse led. 3 to 0, at the end of the first quarter. the two elevens fought on even terms for the greater part of the afternoon and although the game was devoid of spectacular runs and sensational plays the struggle was hard fought throughout.

The break in the game came in the opening quarter when LaFountaine, Gallaudet's ace, was banished from the game for kicking Altrup of the Hatchetites, and the Mutes were penalized to their own 15-yard line.
